WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA:

The winds of the past few days will be on the decrease today, but RH will remain quite low with 10-15% common away from the coastal influenced areas. A low pressure trough will remain anchored around the West Coast states well into next week. There will be just enough moisture and instability associated with the trough to bring a chance of isolated afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms to the northern and eastern mountains beginning over the NW mountains Friday afternoon and then further east over the weekend and early next week. Any thunderstorms will tend to be wet and are expected only over the northern and eastern mountain areas. Temperatures will be near to a little above seasonal normal through the 7 day period with warmest interior areas in the mid 80s to right around 90. Afternoon winds will generally be westerly and of seasonably low speeds.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

The marine layer is roughly 2,500 feet deep this morning and further deepening of the marine layer is likely over the next few days. By the weekend, night through morning stratus will reach the lower coastal slopes where some light drizzle may be possible. Temperatures will be a few degrees below normal this weekend (outside the deserts) with highs in the 70s to lower 80s in the valleys to the upper 50s to 60s in the deserts. Onshore pressure gradients will likely increase over Southern California which will generate daily afternoon winds of 15-25 mph in the Antelope Valley, the Banning Pass and the eastern side of the Cleveland National Forest. Some cumulus buildups are possible in the Sierras, but precipitation is no longer expected this weekend. Little change in the weather is expected through next Tuesday as a trough remains stationary off the coast. Minimum RH may fall into the teens over higher elevations of the Angeles, San Bernardino and Cleveland National Forest early next week. Warmer weather may return for the second half of next week.

CAL OES ACTIVATIONS

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

- The SOC is activated at Level 2 in support of the Drought State of Emergency from 0800-1700 hours daily.
- The Inland REOC is activated at Level 2 from 0800-1700 Monday through Friday or as needed.
- The Southern REOC is activated at Level 1.
- The Santa Barbara County OA EOC is activated at Level 2 to be handled by the duty officer for the purpose of monitoring activities and gaining situational awareness. The operational period is 0800-1700 hours.

Situational Summary

On January 17, 2014 Governor Edmund G. Brown proclaimed a State of Emergency and directed state officials to take all necessary actions to prepare for drought conditions. The State Operation Center (SOC) is activated to implement objectives in support of the Governor's priorities. The lack of winter rain and snowfall has resulted in extremely dry conditions in many parts of the State. Reservoir levels are down significantly from where they should be on average for this time of year. If conditions continue without substantial rainfall, severe impacts to municipal water supplies, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities are likely in store for the State over the next few months. Negative economic impacts will also result.

**As our state's rainy season comes to an end, it is highly unlikely that precipitation totals will increase significantly. This winter's below average rain and snowfall worsens conditions in this third straight dry year.***

The drought could result in severe impacts to the municipal water supplies, wells, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities for several months. The SOC continues to be activated to monitor the situation statewide, and support regional and local operational areas.

- The Taskforce continues to meet regularly to take actions that conserve water and coordinate state response to the drought.
- The final manual snowpack survey of the season was conducted on Thursday (May 1) and showed California snowpack at 18% of normal. A more recent update using automated devices shows snowpack at 5% of normal as of May 23.
- DWR has announced that water essential for health and safety will be delivered through the state water project. The current State Water Project Allocation is 5%.
- Cal OES continues to gather drought-related costs from state agencies and local governments.
